katharina reiss s now classic contribution to translation studies möglichkeiten und grenzen der Übersetzungskritik kategorien und kriterien für eine sachgerechte beurteilung von Übersetzungen first appeared in 1971 this is the first english translation of this major work allowing students and practitioners of translation in the english speaking world to make more extensive use of reiss s pioneering treatment of a central theme in translation how to develop reliable criteria for the systematic evaluation of translations using a wealth of interesting and varied examples reiss offers a systematic and illuminating text typology a pragmatic approach to text analysis a functional perspective on translation and a hermeneutic view of the translator thus accounting for some of the most important aspects of the translation process the text both source and target versions the conditions which determine the translator s decisions and the translator as an individual whose personal interpretation has to be respected by any critic in the three decades since katharina reiss wrote the terminology of translation studies has evolved on many fronts erroll rhodes translation strikes an optimal balance between remaining faithful to the original presentation and using terminology that today s reader would generally understand and value based on results from the past ten years this ready reference systematically describes how to prepare carry out and evaluate animal studies for cancer therapies addressing the widely recognized lack of reliable and reproducible results following a short historical introduction and a discussion of the ethics surrounding animal experiments the book describes correct study design as well as the handling and housing of animals it then goes on to describe the animal models available for different cancer types from natural cancer models in mice and dogs to humanized animals an evaluation of previously unpublished long term data from the swiss canine and feline cancer registry is also included the final part of the book reviews the lessons learned over the last decade on how to interpret data from animal studies for improving human therapy and gives recommendations for future drug development africa can achieve self sufficiency in food production through adoption of innovations in the agriculture sector numerous soil fertility and crop production technologies have been generated through research however wide adoption has been low african farmers need better technologies more sustainable practices and fertilizers to improve and sustain their crop productivity and to prevent further degradation of agricultural lands the agricultural sector also needs to be supported by functional institutions and policies that will be able to respond to emerging challenges of globalization and climate change
